The government of India has also termed the coming 25 years of India as the "Azadi ka Amrit Kaal". These coming 25 years have been seen by the government as well as the citizens of our country as the game-changing era for our country. The government of India has come up with multiple policies that will change the face of our country globally in the coming years. These policies will surely make India a developed and most importantly a nation which is independent with respect to all needs in the year 2047.
